

Electronic Signing of Executive Board Documents

USE CASE: XITRUST MOXIS

FROM A FORMAL TO A DIGITAL ACT

Executive Board documents, contracts or financial reports are always sensitive. One might also refer to them as the Achilles heel of a company. That is why it is all the more important to handle them with care. For companies with numerous locations, documents often travel long distances with many stops along the way - especially if they need to be signed by multiple Executive Board members.

Cross-media conversion is unavoidable, occurring as a matter of course due to printing out and re-scanning of the same written document. That costs time and ultimately money: Missing important deadlines, for example when it takes too long to obtain a signature, comes straight off the „bottom line“.

yees charged with obtaining signatures on Executive Board documents. The signature folder is overflowing, but the question as to whether the long-awaited signatures can finally be rendered on the documents, remains unresolved.

And for the Executive Board member, it is among the less pleasant notions that employees will approach him immediately after his arrival with full signature folders and ask for the all the signatures that are outstanding. Preferably all at the same time. Here, every Executive Board member has surely wished at times that he had magical powers enabling him to work through the stack of papers within a few seconds.

Building on its more than 15 years of experience in all sectors of industry and trade, along with the public sector, XiTrust has developed a perfect solution that has nothing to do with magic: it is called MOXIS, the digital signature folder. Many Executive Board members and employee teams from XiTrust's base of customers are already using this technology daily.

At the end of the day, everyone is satisfied: With XiTrust MOXIS, administrative employees no longer have to spend weeks running after signatures. Executive Board members are liberated from the nagging vision of an overflowing signature folder and can obtain the freedom to bear legal signature to documents, individually or in batch mode. No matter where in the world they happen to be at the time.

Creating security, developing quality.
